

Lichfield Round Table 'predict a riot' to raise £600 for charity

Lichfield Round Table have raised £600 for Help for Heroes by joining local police officers in a day of public order training.

30 members of Round Table from Lichfield, supported by adjacent tables organised a day of training with Operational Support Unit officers who specialise in policing public order situations, dynamic entry into buildings and specialist operations. The day of activities included fitness training with a 'shield run', crowd control scenarios and street rioting with the Tablers acting as both a 'passive' and 'hostile' crowd. Demonstrations were also given of tactics to restrain armed and emotionally disturbed people, how to break through doors and how new technology is increasing safety for officers and the public in confrontational situations.

All the money raised from the day will be donated to the Help for Heroes charity which provides assistance to service personnel wounded post 9/11.

Chairman of Lichfield Round Table, Julian Webb, commented, "This was a fantastic activity for our guys to join in with, and we raised a substantial amount of money for a really important charity. Lichfield has a long association with the 3 Mercian (Staffords) Regiment who have just started a six month tour in Afghanistan, and we are delighted to help support our injured troops. After such a fascinating and activity packed day we gained a real appreciation of the skills and bravery needed to tackle specialist public order policing tasks."

Public order training situations used were planned to be realistic but safe for all participants.

Inspector Nick Rowe said "This event offered a series of structured scenarios to challenge our officers outside of the usual training regime. Having an additional pool of 'crowd' to deploy in a controlled training situation was useful for us. We welcomed the opportunity to engage with our local communities in events such as this to explain the significant challenges and risks posed to our officers by public order situations."

Round Table welcomes Lichfield men aged 18-45 to find out more about future events through its website www.lichfieldroundtable.co.uk.

Sunny Delight

Raised and educated in California, Sunny Eades has been fascinated by the world around her and drawing it was more than a natural pastime it was her passion, ever since she can remember. However, art in itself was not enough, it was her father who encouraged her to unite her interest with a profession.

She graduated from school with an Associate of Arts degree in Architecture but was naturally attracted to Industrial Design. Sunny went on to graduate from the University of California in Long Beach with a Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Design and awarded the highest accolade afforded to a graduate - the 'Industrial Design Society of America'.

Sunny began a career in the automotive design department of the Chrysler Corporation in Detroit, where she specialised in interior design. In 1980 her career as an automotive interior designer turned to Europe, when Peugeot gave her a contract with their Talbot Division in England.

In 1983, Sunny decided to become a freelance Industrial Designer and this work afforded her the flexibility to make that work/family balance. It was at this time that her passion for painting re-emerged and she began to accept commissions.

Today Sunny is an accomplished artist working in watercolours and acrylics on a wide range of subjects and in a wide range of formats. Her paintings have a nice layered quality "I prefer to work on the larger scale and I work from photographic studies, manipulating them into a pleasing composition and enjoy doing still life, landscape, flora and fauna, people and of course architecture."

The exhibition will be held in The Old Hall's Gatehouse at Mavesyn Ridware in Staffordshire that was built 1391-92 and formed the north side of a quadrangular manor house which was the home of the Mavesyn family from the 12th century. It was built by Sir Robert Mavesyn, three times High Sherriff of Staffordshire who was killed at the battle of Shrewsbury in 1403. It is a timber framed building refaced with brick and stone in the 17th century and contains a fine crown post roof. It was reputedly used by Oliver Cromwell to hold a council of war during the civil war. Subsequently, it was adapted to become the stable block to the 18th century manor house. It was restored in the 1960s and is a grade 1 listed building.

On Saturday September 10th from 10am to 5 pm. Sunny Eades of Atri Eades Paintings will be holding an 'Open Day Exhibition' of her paintings of 'WATER' on the first floor of this
